Dear fellow researchers, academics, and partners of the European Network on Regional Labour Market Monitoring (EN RLMM),

The West University of Timisoara is highly honoured to host the 16th Edition of the Annual Conference of the EN RLMM, entitled "Transformations of local and regional labour markets across Europe in pandemic and post-pandemic times", between the 22-24 September 2021.

The topic of this edition is suitable for the wider context in which the whole society finds itself, along with the world economy and population, strongly influenced by the spread of the risks posed by the generalized Covid-19 pandemic. The changes are radical and will bear long-term consequences. There are already affected a wide range of industries, the transportation economics and services in general. Some commercial sectors report a decrease by 20-25% of their turnover, while others, especially in the hospitality industry, have seen their market segment shrunk by a quarter at most, as compared to the pre-pandemic period. At the same time, there are sectors that have achieved significant growth in a few months only, favoured by the need for digitization and remote operation of activities, sectors that are certainly the most important generators of jobs and new specializations, increasingly diverse in the years to come. However, in this very dynamic context, the true scale of the challenges remains unknown or difficult to predict.

Therefore, we strongly believe that the ENRLMM conference will bring new ideas and methodologies for getting to know and predicting developments on the labour market during this time and in the post-pandemic future, and also innovative proposals for the future of the European labour market, for which we are all responsible: academics, researchers, administration and business, local, regional or continental actors, active participants in the accelerating changes in contemporary Europe.

Professor Marilen Gabriel PIRTEA

Rector of the West University of Timisoara (WUT)

EN RLMM

The European Network on Regional Labour Market Monitoring (EN RLMM) focuses on innovative approaches for the monitoring of labour markets in regions and localities across Europe.

Through various activities involving the publishing of Anthologies and organising meetings, it seeks to further the concepts and instruments in regional and local labour market monitoring and to diffuse the common methods for research and analysis in this field.

In 2021, the Annual Meeting of the EN RLMM will take place in hybrid format. It will be organised jointly by the WEST UNIVERSITY of TIMISOARA, in Timisoara, Romania and the Coordination/ Management of the EN RLMM at IWAK from the Goethe-University of Frankfurt am Main, Germany.

Big Data Working Group

Big Data, as a source for data provision in regional and local labour market monitoring, is of growing importance.

The Big Data Working Group prepared a Big Data Knowledge Hub to support network members in applying big data by providing information and practices on methods, quality criteria, areas of application and data sets.

The Big Data Knowledge Hub will be launched on the European Day, the first day of our meeting (23th September 2020).
